

SALONPAS — a name known all over the world. The pain-relieving medicine of choice.

SALONPAS has evolved from its origins in traditional oriental medicine by using a scientific approach.

Medicated patches are the mainstay of our business and have been from the beginning. Our comprehensive system combines research, development, manufacturing and sales, making it possible to refine the medicated patch to meet the high standards of today's customers. Increasing sales reflect the success of our products.

SALONPAS is being introduced into new markets as a new type of pain-relieving agent and as a way to relieve stress. It will have a young image, appealing to all age groups.

Japan and other nations in Asia are familiar with the healing power of medicated patches. But the plasters of yesteryear have been replaced with the "patch power" of today. Young and old alike will find relief with our medicated patches.

SALONPAS products meet the highest quality standards.

Pharmaceuticals produced by Hisamitsu meet the highest standards of GMP (Good Manufacturing Practice) guidelines. Our manufacturing process is subject to rigorous controls, ensuring product safety and considering environmental impact. We use a streamlined yet flexible system that facilitates the production of multiple product types in small batches. These efforts result in products that meet the needs of a diverse and growing customer base.
